'BAC' bill' given committee nod

By Jack C. Ventimiglia
Executive editor

GRANITE CITY — The "BAC bill" heads for a vote in the Illinois Senate next week following unanimous approval Tuesday in the Higher Education Committee.

In danger of failure due to opposition from the Illinois Community College Association, House Bill 185 won committee support when amended to apply only to Belleville Area College, said Sen. Sam Vadala, D-Edwardsville, the bill's Senate sponsor.

"With the revisions, I think the bill can get past the Senate

Parents fail District 9 for graduation policy

By Jack C. Ventimiglia
Executive editor

GRANITE CITY — Enforcement of the high school graduation policy received a "zero" from three angry parents at a special meeting of the School Board on Tuesday.

The policy, set by the administration, kept 16 students from graduating with the high school class June 5 because the students missed the extracurricular commencement practice. Out of the 16, three called to ask about graduation but did not leave a name. It was too ill to attend practice and the graduation, and two left their names and requested to graduate.

"Why should a student be punished for what his mother did, for God's sake?" asked Connie Stroheide.

Mrs. Stroheide said her son, Jason, was at home during practice and expected her to bring him the car. When she did not arrive, he called friends and learned they had left for practice. He also called his father, Dr. Emil Stroheide, but the doctor said there wasn't time to reach his son and get him to school.

District 9 Superintendent, Gib Walmsley said practice is necessary so that the district can determine the correct number of seats for students, so that the students' names are learned for correct pronunciation, and so they can experience walking through line to get the diplomas. Because Jason Stroheide and Bob Burkett Jr. did not attend

Partney nabbed twice in 90 minutes

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — School Board member David Partney is again claiming harassment by Granite City policemen.

Partney was stopped by Granite City police ticketed for driving on a suspended license.

Partney was charged twice with driving while his license was suspended. He was released on a $102 bond each time.

Though Partney showed Eck a court order by Madison County Chief Associate Judge Edward Ferguson allowing Partney to drive while he is appealing a driving under the influence arrest, Eck and Chenault ticketed Partney because Partney's license is listed as suspended by the secretary of state's office.

Partney claims Eck sought to arrest him.

"He (Eck) told me he had just come back from vacation and heard that I was still driving and was going to arrest me," Partney said while at the police station.

Partney said he was driving north on Madison Avenue after leaving First National Bank in Madison. He said Eck made a U-turn on Madison Avenue after spotting Partney and followed Partney's white, 1987 Oldsmobile for several blocks before stopping the car.

He told me I was under arrest for driving with a suspended license. I told him I had a court order and he said he didn't care," Partney said. He said he left a copy of the court order with Eck.

Police Chief Bill Harris said he did not direct any officers to issue a ticket to Partney if Partney was seen driving.

"There is no written directive to go out and arrest David Partney," Harris said.

The court order stems from a recent hearing in Edwardsville on whether Granite City patrolman Tim Lyerla had probable cause when he arrested Partney on April 17, charging him with DUI.

Ferguson ruled that Lyerla had probable cause, but stayed an automatic suspension of Partney's license because Partney appealed the ruling.

Ferguson also said in his ruling that there was an "appearance of impropriety" in the arrest and set a June 16 trial by jury date for the DUI charge.

Partney claims he was set up by Lyerla and officer Walter Milton Jr., who was off duty and had almost fought Partney at Charlie's Restaurant the night Partney was charged.

Though Ferguson stayed Partney's license suspension on June 1, the secretary of state's office said Ferguson's court order was invalid and kept Partney's license listed as suspended.

Scroggins 'suspicious' of ticket

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Leon Scroggins, attorney for David Partney, wonders if a parking ticket on a car licensed to him and driven by his wife is related to the Wednesday arrests of Partney.

The car was parked in front of Scroggins' residence at 1350 27th St. A ticket was issued and signed by Granite City officers Tony Eck and Roy Koberna at 10:57 a.m. Wednesday, about 50 minutes before Eck arrested Partney.

The ticket was given for parking too long in a two-hour zone.

Scroggins said he could not remember getting a ticket there before.

"It most certainly is suspicious," Scroggins said.

Scroggins recently represented Partney in a hearing concerning the April 17 DUI arrest of Partney.

Partney said he was set up by Granite City police officers. Scroggins will represent Partney in the DUI trial June 16.

Police Chief Bill Harris could not be reached late Wednesday to comment on Scroggins' ticket.

GRANITE CITY — The Illinois Division of Criminal Investigation will not comment on a rumor that it is investigating the scores received on tests taken by members of the city's police department.

"If we're going to investigate, it would be rather foolish for us to talk about it," Sgt. Charles Schwarting, Illinois State Police spokesman, said.

Hopkins confirmed he has discussed the issue with DCI, but would not elaborate.

He said files belonging to the Fire and Police Commission, given to him last week, confirmed some points in what he said is a thorough examination of the police test issues.

"At no time was it intended for anybody from outside to come in and check out wild, unfounded accusations," Hopkins said.

With the commission's

DCI will not confirm involvement in probe

records, Hopkins said his work will continue.

"We have that (information) now and where it will lead is not for me to say," Hopkins said.

Madison County State's Attorney Dick Allen met last week with Police Chief Bill Harris and Hopkins to discuss the test investigation. Allen's support would be necessary in seeking indictments, but he would not comment Tuesday about the discussion.

A city official, requesting anonymity, expressed confidence that indictments would be issued.

Hopkins called the meeting with Allen "very productive."

A former member of the Fire and Police Commission, Bob Barton, characterized the investigation as a "witch hunt."

Partney was removed by Cruse from the commission for not agreeing with the mayor, Barton said.

"Von Doe wanted team players in his administration, and his team is turning out to be an

CALLING FOR ADVICE: David Partney calls his attorney from the Granite City Police Department Wednesday afternoon before being arrested for a second time for driving with a suspended drivers license.

Cruse speaks on arrests of David Partney

GRANITE CITY — Mayor Von Dee Cruse spoke out on the arrest of David Partney, the school board member charged with driving under the influence of alcohol on April 17, and driving with a suspended license June 10.

The following opinion on the conduct of the Granite City Police Department in its handling of Partney's arrests was offered in a written statement by Cruse on Wednesday.

"The arrest of David Partney on Wednesday, June 10, on a charge of driving on a suspended license violated police procedure."

"Chief of Police Bill Harris, in consultation with the city attorneys, State's Attorney Dick Allen, the Attorney General of the State of Illinois, and the Secretary of State's Office determined that Judge Edward Ferguson's order of June 1 was an attempt to direct the Secretary of State Jim Edgar not to suspend Partney's drivers license. Edgar has apparently chosen not to do so, so Partney is operating a motor vehicle on a suspended license in violation of Illinois law. For this reason and no other, Partney was arrested as would any other law breaker."

"Concern for public safety and respect for the law are paramount in Granite City and those who choose to ignore or attempt to evade the law will be held accountable no matter who they are."

"In the past few weeks, much has been written and said concerning the performance of our Granite City Police Department. It has apparently been a fair game to downgrade an entire department in order to attempt a defense of an accused."

"All men have the right to fair and vigorous defense, but no man has the right to defame an entire police force in order to shift the blame for his own misconduct. While they may not be perfect, I can state to all citizens of Granite City that we have the best police department in the entire state. They are performing under constant pressure, frequently in life-threatening situations, and seldom receive the proper support and thanks they deserve."

"I have complete faith in their honesty, integrity and professionalism and they have my 100 percent support."

INSECTS INVADE!*Homeowners Prepare For All Out War As Bugs Move In

CENTRAL STATES - A prominent entomologist from a leading midwestern university, who has requested anonymity, has warned citizens of the Central States of an upcoming "invasion" of 14 different varieties of common insects. The entomologist explains that due to the unrelenting heat of last winter and common weather patterns of this spring, many insects' eggs were not killed during the winter months and a larger number of insects are now hatching. This means that there will be more insects than usual.

The entomologist also warned that many of these insects are household pests and should be fought against.

fleas, gnats, moths, ants, roaches, beetles, mosquitoes, spiders, crickets, and grasshoppers.

"Ortho," a leading pesticide manufacturer, is prepared to handle the insect onslaught with many different kind of sprays and powders designed to rid you of the insect menace. These products, used properly inside and around your home, will help control and kill the insects that infest dark corners or feed on your trees or shrubs.

"Ortho" products are available at your local Central Hardware stores where trained veterans of the insect wars can instruct you in the use of these products. In no time at all you'll be victorious against the insects, and your home and family will be safe from the insect invasion.

Police roadblock questioned

ALTON — The father of an Alton man killed in a high-speed chase with police Monday accuses police of causing the death of his son.

Kevin W. Minner, 22, died when his motorcycle collided with the front of a Pontoon Beach police car on Illinois 111 near I-270 about 2:40 a.m. Monday. Police said they were chasing Minner because he sped through a stop sign in Wood River.

"I've got a boy broke up in a million pieces that I have to bury and all over a stupid traffic violation," said the young man's father, Billie Minner.

"To kill someone over a $50 fine is terrible."

The big question in the elder Minner's mind is why police were pursuing his son in such a fashion for running a stop sign.

Wood River Police Chief Ralph Skinner said it is the policy of the police department to pursue a motorist who is endangering the safety of others.

"We're going to attempt to stop everyone who runs a stop sign," he said, adding it is up to the discretion of the police officer to initiate pursuit, depending on the time of day and location.

He refused to comment further on the case while it is under investigation.

"I don't understand it," Billie Minner said. "If just doesn't make sense. He never drove crazy on the motorcycle. He had respect for it."

Kevin Minner had come back to the family house at 409 Lampert St. in Alton after getting off from his job as a night desk clerk at the Stratford Hotel about 11 p.m., Billie Minner said. Kevin fed the dog and then left again.

Minner said his son often liked to take a ride on his motorcycle late at night after work.

He sometimes went to visit his girlfriend, who lives in Wood River.

"He's been a good boy. Not really ever been in trouble before. He worked hard," Minner said, adding that his son was a careful motorcycle rider with 10,000 miles of motorcycle experience.

Neighbor Joseph Hubbard described Kevin Minner as an "ordinary kid. No problems. A good neighbor. I'd see him moving the lawn over there sometimes. He was always polite to me."

Kevin was a student at Alton High School, but dropped out at age 16. He later earned a GED certificate.

Billie Minner said he finds police reports of the incident confusing, and he questions the tactics used by authorities.

"Nothing makes sense," he said. Minner, who went to view the scene of the crash, said his son's 1980 850-cc Suzuki motorcycle had left 50 feet of straight skid marks but the police car had not left any.

"Kevin didn't hit the police car. I think the police car rammed him. That's my personal opinion. I may never know," Minner said.

Illinois State Police said they had no new information on the case. The matter is still under investigation.

Officials said Madison County sheriff deputies set up a roadblock on Ill. at Chain of Rocks Road but the motorcycle went around it.

It continued south on Ill. as a northbound. Pontoon Beach police car attempted to create a roadblock in the southbound portion of the highway.

Pontoon Beach Police Sgt. Michael Crouch, 34, was released from St. Elizabeth Medical Center after being treated for back injuries.

The motorcycle was killed instantly.

Alestle probe off; SIUE will allow press freedom

Rep. Jim McPike, D-Alton, said June 3 the legislature's involvement in the controversy over the Alestle, the student newspaper at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, has been concluded.

McPike said that as far as he was concerned SIUE President Earl Lazerson has now satisfied the major complaints raised by Alestle editor Deborah Pauly in a meeting in his office last month.

"I made it clear to Earl (Lazerson) we took this seriously and we were not going to allow tampering with freedom of the press or hampering the student newspaper," he said.

McPike also said Rep. Bruce Richmond, D-Murphysboro, the chairman of a House Higher Education subcommittee formed last month to look into the Alestle dispute, "does not want to hold hearings."

McPike emphasized, however, that he had taken Pauly's complaints of administrative interference with the Alestle as a "serious concern."

McPike said he found "difficult to believe" the SIUE administration's claim it was "coincidental" that it had ordered a halt to commissions to student ad salesman in December after the Alestle had printed a story about missing funds from the newspaper, over objections from administrators.

McPike said Lazerson notified him the SIUE committee which sets policies for student workers has now specifically authorized payment of commissions to Alestle student ad salesmen in the future.

However, Lazerson said ad salespeople would not automatically begin receiving commission payments. Criteria for making the payments will be established by Dean of Students

Constance Rockingham, he said.

McPike said it was appropriate for Pauly, with the assistance of the Illinois Education Association, to seek help from him and other area legislators on the commission issue. Lazerson said the Alestle didn't need to turn to legislators for help.

"As far as I'm concerned, everything that was brought to my attention was handled through normal channels," he said.

Lazerson scoffed at remarks by Pauly that she spent more time the past year battling the administration for rights than managing the newspaper.

"I think that's a rather self-glorified view of things," he said. "I'm not aware of any pressure having been put on the editor or any hindrances being put in her way."

Pauly said of Lazerson, "He can believe anything he wants. I think it's ridiculous to put students' through six months of games," she said of the commission controversy.

The other two major concerns raised by Pauly were her fears that the administration planned to remove the authority of the student editor to pick the faculty adviser, and that a rewriting of the Alestle's working papers would include a proposal to have a full-time SIUE employee responsible for the newspaper.

Bill to require teaching in school on sex, drugs

SPRINGFIELD — Schools would be required to offer some instruction in drug abuse prevention, parenting and avoiding sexual abuse under legislation that advanced to final passage June 4.

The Senate Elementary and Secondary Education Committee, on largely partisan votes, cleared the bills to the Senate floor. They have already passed the House.

The chief sponsor, Rep. Lee Preston, D-Chicago, said the legislation was needed to deal with some of the major social problems facing children and youth. Some Republican senators questioned whether the state should be mandating more required instruction on schools and argued that local school boards should decide whether they wanted to deal with the issues.

One of the bills would require every public school to offer some instruction on "effective methods for the prevention and avoidance of drug and substance abuse" each year from kindergarten through eighth grade. Preston said drug abuse prevention now tended to be part of high school curriculums, but kids experiment with drugs typically by the 7th or 8th grade and they need to learn of the dangers as early as possible.

Another of the bills would require instruction in parenting and family relations each year in grade 9 through 12. Preston said the increased number of pregnant teenagers made essential such basic instruction as it being inappropriate to slap an infant when it cried.

The third bill would require every school to offer instruction in each of the grades, kindergarten through eighth grade, on how pupils could recognize and try to avoid abduction and sexual and physical abuse.

Preston said all three bills left it up to school districts to decide how much of each area of education was given; they could choose to only have one day "assemblies" or offer entire courses.

BART SOLON

Q. In the past, you've given some sound advice on family budgeting, but there is one individual you've missed: The person whose income is based on commissions and is, therefore, variable. Since I just began such a job for the first time, I wonder if you could offer any tips?

A. We apologize for the oversight. We are aware that many Americans do work on a commission basis. If you're just starting out, the most important thing is to keep spending to a minimum for a while, until you see how your income will generally work out. To build up a margin of safety, so to speak, for times when your commission checks may dwindle, try to set aside some money from each check. And, another key is record keeping. Get in the habit of maintaining strict, accurate records for at least a year (depending on your business, six months may be long enough). Utilizing those records, you should be able to construct a workable budget which should continue to include regular savings — an extremely important asset for anyone working on commission — based on average monthly earnings.

Fame is fleeting, even if your name is Fawn

As Fawn Hall said at the Iran Contra hearing Monday, the late Andy Warhol was right: In the modern era, "Everyone will be famous for 15 minutes."

Her fame is that she is the secretary who helped Lt. Col. Oliver North shred documents on aid to Nicaraguan rebels.

Granite City's fame, unfortunately, includes a yearly report that part of 20th Street has "the dirtiest air in Illinois."

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency said June 3 it will alter its rule on air particulates but that Granite City still probably won't meet the desired level.

The EPA wants to relax its regulations on large dirt particles, and instead emphasize control of small, inhalable particles that can damage human lungs.

St. Clair County and St. Louis will change from non-compliance to compliance; St. Clair will continue to be rated by Illinois as having inadequate air quality.

Regional Roundup

Madison County won't attain the state or U.S. air standard for particulates, but does pass most of the other pure-air tests.

A press conference in Springfield today continued to paint a bleak picture of prospects of pending state budget cutbacks.

Groups are fearful of the effect on elder-abuse prevention, Alzheimer disease projects, and services for frail older persons in need of home health care.

The governor's tax proposals have been assailed at Springfield, but the opposition isn't unanimous.

Faring even worse was the Alton mayor, whose tax boost idea was just buried by the aldermen, 14 to 0.

Unless Gov. Thompson prevails, the State Board of Education said May 28, needed state aid reform "will be largely meaningless and difficult to accomplish."

The State Police budget was sufficient to permit inspections of all vehicles on Interstate 55 near Springfield from 1 p.m. June 4 to 4 a.m. June 5.

A squad of 35 troopers and three police dogs checked for liquor, drugs and other items. Searches of 3,640 vehicles led to 83 traffic and 11 criminal arrests.

Two Illinoisans are the biggest beneficiaries of Gary Hart's withdrawal from Democratic presidential competition.

The Rev. Jesse Jackson is the first choice of 25 percent of Democrats and Democratic-leaning independents, compared to 12 percent before, and U.S. Sen. Paul Simon has tripled his support; Simon is favored by 13 percent, up from 4 percent.

There are 11 percent for Gov. Mike Dukakis, 10 percent for U.S. Rep. Richard Gephardt of St. Louis County, 5 for Sen. Albert Gore, 4 for former Gov. Bruce Babbitt and 3 percent for Sen. Joseph Biden.

State news

Plastic weapons bill gets another shot

Legislation banning plastic firearms has been revived in the form of Senate Bill 1018 awaiting action by the House Judiciary Committee, said sponsor Rep. Grace Mary Stern, D-Highland Park. She called the weapon a terrorist tool.

"This legislation would make it illegal to sell, manufacture, purchase, possess or carry any non-metallic firearm that is a danger to public safety because it cannot be detected by airport metal detectors or other security devices," Stern said.

Disability rights forces gather in Springfield

Legislation rights advocates, state legislators, rehabilitation professionals, private citizens and members of the Coalition of Citizens with Disabilities will gather for the third annual Disability Rights Conference, June 15-17, in Springfield.

The conference will focus on grassroots advocacy training seminars and meetings with members of the Illinois General Assembly concerning the future of rehabilitation and civil rights in the state. For more information, the number to call is 1-800-433-2626.

Artists may enter 'Coal in Art' contest

Amateur and professional artists are invited to enter the "Mine-works to Artworks: Illinois Coal in Art" contest intended to portray scenes of everyday life in Illinois coal communities. Entries may be in painting, sketching, picture-taking or sculpting.

Entrants must submit three color slides of one artwork by Aug. 5. Entry forms are available from

It pays to advertise, business hotline finds

Billboards that advertise the state's toll-free Small Business Hotline have dramatically increased the number of callers seeking assistance in starting or expanding a business, said a spokesman for the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs.

Calls have almost doubled since the first billboards went up in December. The billboards contain the message: "Need Business Help?" followed by the Illinois Small Business Hotline number, 1-800-252-2923. The hotline is staffed by professionals who can answer any small business-related question.

E.St.Louis groundwater contamination studied

East St. Louis has been identified as one of several state groundwater resource areas that need more protection from contamination. The region is of concern because of past industrial activity. The state began testing there in May.

Groundwater legislation under consideration by the General Assembly would protect these areas and other groundwater

State grows its own high-tech companies

Illinois is "growing its own" high-tech firms by providing seed capital to state-based companies and entrepreneurs who are developing new technologies or innovative uses for existing technology.

The Business Innovation Fund invests in promising ideas during the preliminary research and development stages, and after the products are marketed, the state realizes up to a fivefold return through royalty agreements. Companies whose products are ready to be marketed can receive assistance through the Equity Investment Fund.

Pollution destroys 190,000 fish in 1986

Twenty-seven pollution-related fish kills reported to the Conservation Department in 1986 claimed about 190,000 fish worth $20,000, said Mike Conlin, fisheries division chief for the Department of Conservation.

"Agricultural operations were again the biggest contributor to pollution-caused fish kills last year," Conlin said. The majority

One out of ten women will develop breast cancer.

Perhaps the two most frightening words to a woman are breast cancer. The number one killer of females, breast cancer is a disease caused by an uncontrolled growth of abnormal cells in the breast tissue. But with detection, effective treatment can be started immediately, therefore improving the patient's prognosis. The survival rate among women who find cancer before it is noticeable is 97 percent.

To answer the need for early detection of breast disease, St. Elizabeth Medical Center has established the Breast Diagnostic Program, which provides mammographies at almost one-fourth the cost of such procedures being done elsewhere. A convenient diagnostic procedure, mammograms provide patients with high quality, high sensitivity images with minimal radiation exposure.

Following the American Cancer Society's guidelines, this simple, painless exam is currently the best method of detecting breast disease. The ACS recommends all women age 35 to 40 have an initial, routine mammogram; diagnostic exams periodically between age 40 and 50; and yearly exams after age 50.

How many will detect it in time?

Scheduling for the general public will begin Monday, June 1, and will end on Friday, July 31. Normally, such a procedure would cost $95 to $100. Subsidized by the Gussie Glick Cancer Fund, this procedure is now available for a limited time for only $25, which includes the interpretation fee. A physician's referral is required.

THE LAW AND YOU
BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

When a person owns property in joint tenancy with another individual, upon the death of the first joint tenant the property will pass to the survivor. For example, husband and wife may decide to own their marital residence as joint tenants. When the first spouse dies, the home will pass to the surviving spouse.

Let's assume that a person has a will prepared and designates that all property is to pass to one particular person at the time of his death. After preparing the will, he sells all of his property and places the money from the sale in a joint tenancy bank account with a different individual than the one designated in the will. Who gets the property at the time of his death?

The general rule is that joint tenancy property passes outside the will. Therefore, in our example, the surviving joint tenant would receive the balance in the bank account upon the death of the first joint tenant. This would be true even though the will was prepared before the joint tenancy account was created.

In one recent case, a widow had five children. She prepared a will indicating that each of them was to receive an equal share of her estate at the time of her death. After she prepared the will, she became ill and decided to live with one of her sons.

She transferred $100,000 to a joint savings account with the son who was taking care of her. Soon after she transferred this money, the widow died.

In this case, the one son received the $100,000 in the account as well as one-fifth of the remainder of her estate. This may not have been what the mother intended, but because she established the joint tenancy account, this property passed outside the will. For the other children to set aside this transfer, they would have to show by clear and convincing evidence that the mother did not intend to make a gift of the $100,000. This would be very difficult to do.

Therefore, when a person has a will prepared, he needs to be careful about subsequent transfers of property into joint tenancy. As indicated by the above example, these transfers can bring about a result that may not have been intended by the person who prepared the will.

KITCHEN, BATH REMODELING ARE GOOD INVESTMENTS

We buy things because we want or need them, and because we consider them worth buying.

The real payback can come when the time comes to sell the house. Then, very frequently, the investment is paid back in full in added value.

The fact is that kitchen or bath remodeling pays for itself in sheer joy plus a lot of savings in human energy.

The kitchen gains in function and aesthetics. The steps saved add up to miles over the years, and we get a beautiful room to show to our friends.

The bathroom gains in beauty as well as in storage and counter work space, better lighting and a much nicer place for the grooming and other tasks we do there.

So we get a return on our investment every day. And that is reason enough to visit us and discuss getting the project started now.

He's not ready for jail?

For years the public has watched as political leaders are caught stealing, lying and bribing.

With the system treating white collar criminals to a minimum stay in minimum security prisons having lavish golf courses, the threat of such punishment does not deter their actions.

A case in point: James Barton, former supervisor of assessments for Madison County, was convicted of conspiracy to commit bribery and four counts of official misconduct, all related to improper assessment practices. His sentence is a six-month jail term.

Though denied, Barton had the gall to ask that the jail term be dropped or changed to a time after he and his wife are better prepared for it. A psychologist's report filed with Barton's petition says Barton "has suffered enough and, indeed, he is suffering greatly now." We cannot sympathize. Actually, the public has suffered, and too much. We suffer at the hands of those who misuse our trust.

It's time to deter corruption with punishment. How about prison terms, equal prison terms, for public officials who cheat the people?

Any convicted public official should go to prison because the crime is against the people. Call such public offenses criminal and treat them like criminals.

Punish them severely for their crimes are severe.

The other Bartons lurking in this county should be made to think hard about what it will mean to cause the public to suffer again, but none will lose sleep over the six-month sentence given to Barton.

Child abuse is increasing

The big increase in Illinois child abuse during the past decade is due partly to greater emphasis on reporting instances of abuse. But even after taking this factor into account, the statistics are alarming.

The 1986-87 fiscal year ending this month will record the highest number of child abuse and neglect reports in state history — about 90,000. The 82,329 reports made to the Child Abuse and Neglect Hotline in the first 11 months already exceed the 1985-86 total of 70,414.

The tally through June 30 also will mark the biggest annual increase, about 28 percent, in five years.

More than 8,000 children were reported as suspected victims in May alone, according to Gordon Johnson, director of the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services. This was a 15.8 percent increase over reports received by the department in May, 1986. In Chicago, May reports were up 31.6 percent.

As Johnson sees it, "Illinoisans have made it clear in record numbers that they want youngsters protected and troubled families served. Every call represents a citizen asking the state government to help a child. As we investigate the reports, we must expect to find greater numbers of children and families who need intervention and services like foster care, parent training, homemakers and counseling."

"This dramatic increase in child abuse spells out a great need for state resources. It tells us that families are in crisis and young people are at risk. It also tells us that Illinoisans by the thousands care enough about the safety of children to call for help. Our challenge is to live up to their trust."

Churches alive and well

Support of television evangelists may be slipping, but church membership continues to grow at the same rate as the population. Three-fifths are members of a church, synagogue or other religious congregation.

The 142,926,363 U.S. church members include, in the eight largest church bodies: Roman Catholic, 52,654,908; Southern Baptist, 14,477,384; United Methodist, 9,266,853; National Baptist USA, 5,500,000; Latter-Day Saints/Mormon, 3,860,000; Church of God in Christ, 3,709,661; Presbyterian, 3,048,225; and Lutheran Church in America, 2,898,202.

The 1987 yearbook on churches reveals that the typical church member gives $321 a year, compared to $69 a quarter-century ago.

Overall seminary enrollment is declining, but for 10 years there has been an increase in the portion of seminary students attending part-time. More are starting theological studies at an advanced age.

Enrollments of women, Blacks and Pacific/Asian American students are increasing but Hispanic student enrollment is down. The number of women theological students has grown from 3,358 in 1972 to 14,900 in 1986. Another trend has been a steady increase in the number of women serving as full-time faculty members in theological schools.

An upturn in the value of new construction of religious buildings has continued for several years. Such work started in 1985 amounted to $2.4 billion, the highest figure since 1970.

Farms still in recession

Comment by SIU at Carbondale: A consumer who pays $4.95 a pound for beef steak in the grocery store or $16.95 for a steak in a restaurant may find the plight of the farmer a little hard to swallow.

In 1970, the U.S. food-marketing bill was $175 billion but the farm value of food was $35 billion.

In more recent times, these figures were $250 billion and $90 billion.

Labor and processing costs require much more of the consumer food dollar than does the farm which produced the food.

Bruce reflects upon his case To the editor:

I wish to express some thoughts to the people of Granite City as to the outcome of this trial.

To the young people, Me, being 43 years old, can see how the world is changing, some for the better a lot for the worse and if you take some time to study what is happening and think why, may be a big plus in your favor.

I was lucky growing up and never had the habit of coke or pot, but I did not escape the booze. I never received a DUI charge, patted myself on the back many times. I never was a burglar — no violent crimes. Now they call me a murderer. I would like to tell you of the traps before some of you in hope to help someone in what I have seen, feel and known — things and life and the difference in years of my age and yours.

The world needs law and I don't know of a better system in the world than the U.S.A., but if you ever come in contact with the wrong end of the judicial system, it is confusing and leaves you helpless as to the rights you read in the Constitution on which your defense depended. Due process takes you from one point to the next and it is slow. Guilty or innocent makes no difference.

The law reads innocent till proven guilty, but seems reversed and the law seems unfair as you feel degraded plus your identity and individuality are removed. There becomes a mental stain and law becomes a lie and unfair. You come in contact with people you can not avoid that hate constantly that are extremely prejudicial in color and nationality. Your hurts become your family's hurts and only time will tell you what happens.

Don't believe TV or the movies. Believe me, in the year have been in jail I have seen people come and go, some lucky and some unlucky. Some people with no place to go are put out on the street to steal and are back in jail the same day, some let out on drug charges come back within weeks with murder charges added to the drug charges.

Money become a most important factor. Lawyers become an mediator between you and the judicial system. They are not cheap and you will find they are very busy at times you will feel ignored and have no idea what is happening.

In a year, I have not seen the moon or stars. It may not seem important but is. Imagine a TV, plus radio plus 10 people talking and hollering in a basement for 10 hours or longer a day every day for a year. County time is hard time, very hard time. Many tell me it's much worse than prisons. To be in my place is the only way to feel the real circumstances.

Don't believe people don't lie. I have seen and heard facts that would be impossible to understand. Don't take that chance and put yourself in an impossible situation. Don't listen to any easy way to get ahead.

I wrote this not for myself but for those who don't know what jail is like. I never in 43 years had any idea what jail was like, even seeing TV and lots of movies and "Perry Mason" is not the way it operates.

Once you become infected with jail and the judicial system you will never be the same. Jail is reality of the pits where you have hours, weeks and months and maybe years to think of the simple things that meant little, as a picnic or just an afternoon with your folks. Washing the car or cutting the grass becomes a pleasant dream.

The wish, for a Coke or a slice of pizza is gone. The reality of being attacked while you're lying in bed reading a book is real because you drank a cup of coffee no one seemed to want.

The cast on my foot and leg broke on the hard floor is real. The thought of being stabbed with a pencil or sharpened tooth brush is real. Loneliness is real. To see your mom through an inch-thick plate glass is real. To hear her cry on the phone is real. The lump in your throat and hurt in your heart and tears in your eyes are real.

Tough guys don't win in jail, nobody wins in jail. When you're in jail, you're not the toughest, you're not the smartest or the best. You're nothing but a piece of meat being procured in one direction or another and only time will tell.

I will leave Madison County jail in the next few days and go through the process of law and my appeal for a new trial.

My advice to the young people is to sit back and think of what you do every night before you leave the house and count the blessings you may be giving up for something stupid. One small mistake may cause you a life time of pain. You're not immune and you don't have to commit a crime to be convicted of it. It happens.

JACK BRUCE

Welfare not faring well

Our nation's War on Poverty began in earnest in the 1960s. Politicians sought public office promising to do more for poor people.

And we still have 33 million Americans living in poverty. "Poverty," according to the government's definition, is when a family of four has less income than $10,989 per year.

We could give all those 33 million poor people $15,000 a year — make everybody "rich" and have $516 billion left over.

Obviously, most of our "welfare" money is going to support the welfare bureaucracy.

At long last, leaders of both parties in Congress are agreed that "something must be done."

As 1986 was the year of tax reform, 1987 must be the year of welfare reform.

Several states have demonstrated that "workfare" works. Where able-bodied unemployed are required to accept available jobs or forfeit welfare payments many do.

President Reagan believes that cities and states are able to administer welfare better than can the federal government. He remembers as governor of California being frustrated by policies issued from Washington which made it impossible for his state to effect economies.

For example, Aid to Families of Dependent Children costs $15 billion a year. Most recipients are unmarried mothers and high-school dropouts. About one-fourth of those stay on AFDC for nine years and more. These soak up some 60 percent of all AFDC spending.

Massachusetts has established a program called E.T. that spends $3,400 per person to set each recipient up in a job.

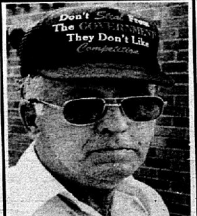

The same program may have been collecting $5,600 in AFDC payments, $1,440 in food stamps and $900 in Medicaid. A total of $7,940. And already Massachusetts has thus lowered the number of long-term AFDC recipients by 25 percent.

We are going to get some meaningful welfare reform this year if the politicians can resist fussing over who gets the credit for it.

Should ships stay in Gulf?

President Ronald Reagan is sending more ships to the Persian Gulf to protect foreign oil tankers for the benefit of our allies, in particular Germany and Japan. This week, in Venice, Italy, our allies said they would not intervene militarily in the gulf. Should the U.S. keep its ships in the gulf, risking them and our men?

Earl Biddle, Granite City

"If they're getting the oil, let them protect it. We shouldn't be over there at all. We don't get that much oil from there. Why should we fool with it?"

Marvin Kessler, Granite City

"My opinion is they're peace keepers. I think we should keep the peace. If the U.S. doesn't do it, they will get the oil out of the gulf to our allies. And we've got to keep the Russians out of the gulf."

Donald Rouland, Granite City

"I think we have to. We're the leading nation in the free world and if the supplies are cut off now to our allies, they'll have to go to the same suppliers we have. That's either going to raise the prices or cut off those supplies, or both."

Music program Sunday

Quad-City Church Women United will present their fourth annual "Music, Music" program at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church, 20th Street and Delmar Avenue, Sunday from 3 to 5 p.m.

Greetings and the invocation will be delivered by the Rev. Ralph Totten, host pastor, and the welcome address will be given by Dorothy Kinney, vice president of the organization.

Nona Corzilius will give the Litany and Ola J. Jones will serve as master of ceremonies for the program.

Performing will be the Children's Group from the Happy Day Care Nursery which will sing some of its favorite songs, directed by Becky Baker; Niedringhaus Church Youth Choir, which will be accompanied by Kathleen Offit at the piano; and two vocal duos, George and Tom Wilkerson of Madison Presbyterian Church and Roy Salmann and Kyle Braundmeier of St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ.

Others featured are an instrumental duo, Wanda Bailey on piano and Marilyn Bernalk at the organ, from Nameoki United Methodist Church; the Bethel African Methodist Episcopal Church's Gospel Chorus accompanied by Ron Harris, singing two favorite selections; and Delores Boston, well-known soloist in the Metro East area.

The closing selection, "When We All Get to Heaven," will be sung by the congregation and guests.

After the benediction refreshments will be served in the fellowship hall. Tickets, costing $2 each, are available from members of the Church Women United or may be purchased at the door Sunday afternoon.

Proceeds from the event will be shared by the Dwight Correctional Center for the construction of a chapel, the local Salvation Army, and the Meals on Wheels project, Lena Seitzer, president, said.

Hurt, Matlin make 'Children' a success

By Nick Pacino
Journal correspondent

Hollywood took a giant step forward when it decided to bring the Tony Award-winning play "Children of a Lesser God" (1986) to the screen. And the overwhelming response from critics and audiences should assure itself, town's moguls that the market is ready and more than willing to embrace stories with meaning and dignity about the lives of the disabled.

William Hurt is James Leeds, an idealistic, unorthodox teacher of the deaf assigned to the Severn Kittredge School for the Deaf in Maine. His challenging students are played by various real-life hearing-impaired youngsters, who have had experience in the National Theater for the Deaf.

Hurt immediately is attracted to Marlee Matlin, a beautiful but troubled deaf woman, once the school's pupil, now is cleaning woman. Angry and withdrawn, Matlin Sarah fights Hurt's efforts to become emotionally and physically close, and his efforts to dominate and control her independent nature.

Matlin and Hurt make a compelling couple, and the film is an honest portrayal of conflicts and struggles every couple, physically impaired or not, must face. The film was nominated for Best Picture and Best Screenplay Adaptation. Hurt was nominated for Best Actor and Matlin won the Oscar for Best Actress. Paramount Home Video, rated R for language and mild nudity, 119 mins., color, VHS/Beta, close captioned.

"Borrowing the name and fame of a popular 1950s television series and its character's last name did nothing to improve the quality of the 1986 release "Wanted: Dead or Alive." Ruter Hauer, who has specialized in playing maniacs ("The Hitcher") is Nick Randall, grandson of Josh Randall — a bounty hunter in the Old West who is played by the late Steve McQueen.

A former CIA agent, Hauer is called back into service by Robert Guillaume after an international terrorist named Malik Al Rahim — played by KISS musician Gene Simmons — has blown up a movie theater. After watching friend William Russ and girlfriend Mel Harris perish from a bomb planted by Rahim, Hauer embarks on an explosive chase to administer his own brand of justice. Predictable all the way, but Hauer is good to look at. New World Video, rated R for violence, language and sexual situations, color, 104 mins., VHS/Beta, stereo, closed captioned.

"Born Agnes Goncha Bojaxhi in Skopje, Yugoslavia in 1910, she joined the Sisters of Loretto in 1928 and taught geography at St. Mary's High in Calcutta for 18 years. In 1948, as Mother Teresa, she formed the Missionaries of Charity after a calling from God in 1946 to be 'God's love-in-action to the poorest of the poor.'"

"Mother Teresa" is an inspirational documentary produced and directed by Ann and Jeanette Petrie. Over a five-year period, the cameras followed the diminutive woman in the white sari as she moved among the most downtrodden and pitiful of this earth. The film follows her with lepers, orphans, the dying, the homeless and the malnourished from Calcutta to Beirut, to Guatemala, to New York City.

Lengthy interviews are included.

This appropriate tribute to the Nobel Laureate was screened at the United Nations, in the U.S. Senate and the Vatican and is narrated by director Richard Attenborough ("Gandhi"). Today Video, 81 mins., color, VHS/Beta.

A welcome addition to the how-to video's on beauty is volume one of the series "Sheryl Lee Ralph's Beauty Basics for the Contemporary Black Woman."

Ralph starred on Broadway in "Dreamgirls," so her beauty and knowledge of makeup are considerable. The viewer is guided through three "before and after" make-up lessons: The Classic Look for the workplace, The Natural Look for home and daytime, and The Glamorous Look for evenings out.

The video explains skin type, foundation, applications and skin tone colors. Karl-Lorimar, 60 mins., VHS/Beta.

Artists considered for new Metro Link

By Dave Jefferson

While designing Metro Link, planners must do their best to blend the bricks and mortar reality of the proposed light rail system with the free-thinking world of artists.

That was the message from landscape architect M. Paul Friedberg, one of three artists who last week took part in a symposium targeted at getting artists involved in the design of 20 stations planned along the 18-mile line. Friedberg's comments came before members of the public and the Arts and Transit Committee, a panel composed of members of the business and arts communities. The session, sponsored by the Contemporary Arts Society of the St. Louis Art Museum, was part of a two-day symposium.

Other artists on the program May 28 at the St. Louis Art Museum were sculptor Jackie Ferrara and Jennifer Dowley, an arts administrator. All three have experience collaborating with architects.

Dowley played a major role in the artistic collaborative effort that went into the design of a major addition to Boston's subway system in 1978. The Boston project was the first time artists were paid with public funds for work on a mass transit system, Dowley said.

St. Louis' system is one of the first efforts in the country to bring artists in at the beginning of a project, she said, adding that landscape architects were not even involved in the design of the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial and the Gateway Arch until nearly a year after construction began.

Friedberg is noted for his work in Battery City Park in lower Manhattan in New York City; Ferrara's work hangs in several major museums.

A select jury eventually will judge the work of artists who will play a major role in determining the flavor of each of the stations along the route linking East St. Louis with Lambert St. Louis International Airport, said Sandra Schoenberg Kling, acting executive director of Citizens for Modern Transit, a group established to gain support for the light rail line.

Kling agreed that it is important for artists and architects to work together in designing the stations, and that they really work as equal partners on a team in defining the problems.

"The artist will help design the stations with the architects," she said. "They will work on the design teams and they will decide if there will be sculpture or whatever else in the stations. And by their interaction each station will be different."

The effort to get artists involved in the stations design was endorsed by Les Sterman, executive director of the East West Gateway Coordinating Council, the regional planning agency that is overseeing the light rail project.

A major goal will be involvement of neighborhood design committees, he said.

A concept now being considered by the group calls for four artists to be on the design team for the stations, said Claudia Burris, manager of communications for East-West Gateway.

Those artists would determine if there is a need to commission individual works at the stations, Burris said.

Gateway has applied to several agencies for funding for the project, Burris said. The two-day symposium attended by Friedberg, Ferrara and Dowley was financed with a $10,000 grant from the St. Louis Regional Arts Commission, she said.

The grant also will be used to finance a luncheon in the fall to familiarize business leaders with the project, Burris said. For information about the luncheon, call Burris at (314) 421-4220.

Optimists find going tough in opener

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

BRIGHTON Any comparisons between the 1987 Granite City Optimists baseball team and its illustrious predecessor will have to wait.

This year's team is sprinkled with a few familiar names and a bunch of young players the coaching staff is still trying to get to know. The 1986 Optimists, of course, had played together several years and the coaches knew them quite well.

The result was a 25-4 season and a berth in the Metro East Junior League quarterfinals. It was one of the best teams never to win a league championship.

After only two practices, the Optimists opened their season Tuesday night only slightly more than 24 hours after the high school season had ended in Granite City. The result was a somewhat predictable 12-1 loss to Brighton. You might even say the Optimists did fairly well considering Brighton had already played six games. The win left them with a not-too-shabby 7-0 record.

"We're just trying to figure out what our players can do," said manager Paul Krausz. "It's going to take a couple of weeks for this team to come together and play real well."

The only names on this year's roster who wore the Optimist uniform during the glorious 1986 season are Jerry Thompson, Kory Burton, Mark Begando, Darin Hendrickson and Dave Bamber. And the latter two will likely spend most of their time with the senior legion team.

Still, there is some fair talent aboard. Mike Krausz, the No. 3 hurler on the Warrior staff this year, could see some time with the Optimists as well as with the senior team. Joe Wallace, who took over the varsity catching job this spring, will also be on hand. Others like Jason Smith, Chris Bartling, Chris Hampsey, Craig Dippel, John Van Buskirk, Chris Ryan, Chad Lignoul and Troy Adamitis have some ability.

"We have five players named Chris on the team," said coach Carl Benson. "It's hard enough trying to get to know them without that. But I think we can get better after we have worked together for a while."

Still, it might be a little much to expect them to match the success of the last three years.

This is Kacera's fourth year at the helm. His coaches are Benson, Marty LeVault and Don Rains.

Tuesday's game wasn't decided until Brighton exploded for nine runs in the third. And the Optimists were victimized by a bad call at second base in the first inning that gave Brighton two of its three runs.

Chris Wiehardt started for Granite City and made some good pitches. But he walked Brad Brown to start the game and Mike McAfee doubled into the left field corner to score a run. An error and another walk filled the bases, but Wiehardt got Pat Marshall on an infield fly for the second out. Steve Green grounded to Chris Nolan at second, but he couldn't handle it.

Van Buskirk, the shortstop, stretched to pick the ball up with his foot on the base and appeared to get the forceout, but the runner was ruled safe as two runners scampered home.

"He didn't know what to say when I went out there," Kacera said. "First he said the runner beat the play, but that obviously wasn't right. That really hurt us."

Meanwhile, Brighton starter Chuck Powell breezed through the first three innings, allowing only a two-out walk to Nolan in the third. Brighton opened the floodgates in the third as all nine players in the lineup scored a run. Tim Powell had a two-run triple, Matt Buhs a run-scoring single, McAfee a two-run single and Marshall added two RBIs with a hit. Bartling took the majority of the shelling in that frame before Krausz came in and pitched the fourth, allowing only a two-out single by Brett Watson.

The Optimists got their run in the fourth when Smith and Burton led off with singles. Wallace walked to fill the bases and Hampsey drew a walk to force in a run to make it 12-1. Jeff Kohler walked in the fifth and the Optimists had a chance to trim their deficit below 10 runs, but Burton lined to deep center to end the game.

Kacera is still trying to find out which of his players can turn on the speed which his teams used to terrorize the league the past few years. But he knows it will take some time this year to find the right combinations.

"We haven't had many games like this the past three years," he said. "It's the first time we've ever been beaten in five innings."

The Optimists play their first home game at Varsity Field tonight at 6 p.m. against Alton. They then play a double-header at Fairview Heights at noon Saturday. That was changed from the original 4 p.m. on the schedule.

Stegemeier has no real regrets

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

In the wake of the most exciting high school baseball season in Granite City in almost 10 years, Bob Stegemeier has no regrets.

"We had a real good season," the coach said of his 28-10 squad which came within one game of going to the state finals. "I have no serious regrets. There are a few things I could be second guessing myself on, but it doesn't help."

It's hard to be too upset when you are beaten as soundly as the Warriors were by Belleville East. The Lancers had been in that situation before, and they knew what to do. They came out flying and got two runs in the first inning Monday. They stayed in control until Fred Judge blew things open with his grand slam in the fifth. The Lancers went on to a 7-2 win and are making their third consecutive trip to state. They advanced to the semifinals each of the last two years.

"I had (Mike) Krausz warming up in the fourth, but I stayed with Darin (Hendrickson) because he had three strikeouts that inning," Stegemeier said. "But you certainly can't blame Darin. I don't think I've ever had a pitcher who had the control he did this year. If we are able to make the plays behind him, he has an even better year than he did. And that wasn't necessarily because we were a bad defensive team. Sometimes ball were just hit out of the reach of players."

Still, the Warriors did have some defensive problems, particularly on the left side of the infield.

Bob Stegemeier

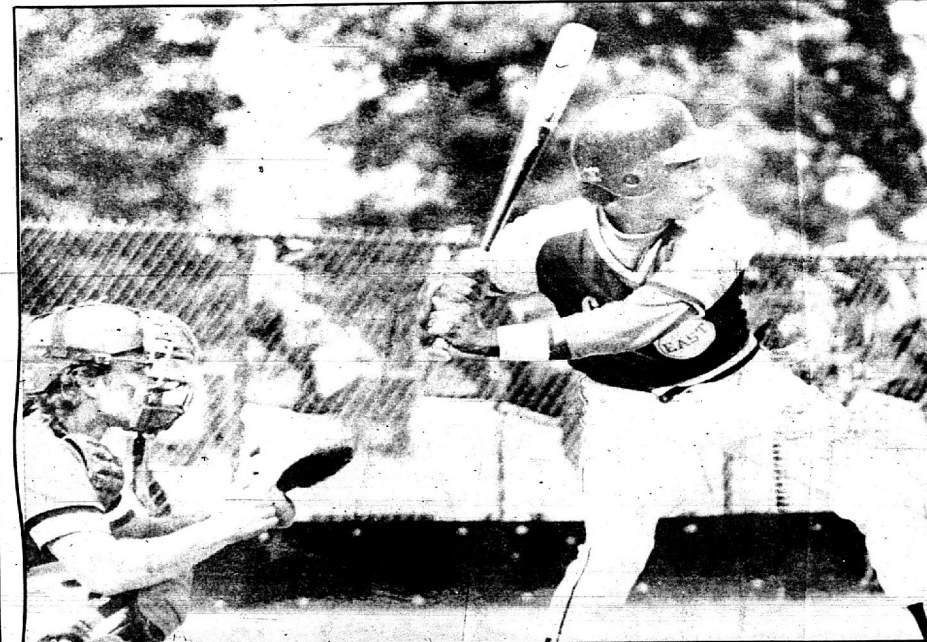

"Jeff Grote did a great job early," Stegemeier said of his shortstop. "But he seemed to lose a little confidence later in the year, even when he started to hit better. And Todd Hinters never did get untracked at third. He was fighting ground balls and had some trouble making throws."

The only thing to do is look ahead to 1988. "Grote will be back, as will John Moad."

"John will be a good hitter," Stegemeier said. "It's tough for a junior to step in and do the job, but he had a pretty good year. And we have some other players like Randy Chapman, Craig Dippel, Chris Ryan and Chris Bartling who will have to step forward."

"We have some sophomores who can move up. I look at it as

QCSA plans Soccer Week fund raisers

The Quad City Soccer Association is planning several fund raising events in conjunction with Quad City Soccer Week in Granite City.

Mayor Von Dee Cruse proclaimed the week of June 21-27 Quad City Soccer Week in ceremonies Monday at City Hall.

On Friday and Saturday, June 26-27, QCSA will have a soda sale at the Bellemeire Village Shopping Center. The soda will be 70¢ products and will be sold at $3.99 per case.

Also on Friday and Saturday, the association will be having its soccer pop sucker sale. The sales will be held at the local banks on June 26 and at the local grocery stores on June 27.

The funds are greatly needed to complete the work at the Quad City Soccer Association complex located behind Prather School just off Illinois Route 3.

QCSA is an organization which has provided youngsters in the area with a chance to develop their soccer skills for the past 25 years. Almost all of the soccer stars in Granite City High School's six state championship teams grew up playing for QCSA teams.

The thanks of the association go out to all that have supported them in the past.

South rises again; Columbia, B-Hill win

The success of southern Illinois teams in the Illinois High School Association playoffs continued this week in Class A baseball and softball.

Columbia claimed the small schools baseball crown with a 12-1, five-inning victory over previously unbeaten Cobden in Tuesday's championship game at Springfield. The championship is the first ever in a team sport for the Eagles. Columbia is a town of 12,000 less than 10 miles south of Dupe.

"This is something you just dream about," said Eagle coach Jim Stuart, a native of Granite City. "I couldn't be happier."

Dave Kossina, a senior right-hander, was named the Most Valuable Player in the tournament. He had complete-game victories over Rochester in the quarterfinals and Cobden in the title game. The Appleknockers had entered the championship with a 38-0 record, but Columbia got two in the first, two in the second, three in the fourth and five in the fifth as Cobden committed six errors.

The Eagles (28-8) had scored a 7-4 win over Rochester on Monday, then advanced to the finals with a 6-1 win over Mantou. Forman is the semifinals Tuesday morning. It was a 1-1 game until the fifth, when Kossina beat out an infield hit with two outs to score the tiebreaking run. Forman followed with three more hits to break the game open.

Meanwhile, Bunker Hill claimed the Class A girls softball championship with a 2-0 win over previously unbeaten Casey in Tuesday's title game at Pekin. The Minutemen — Bunker Hill's boys teams are, also, the Minutemen — ended Casey's 59-game winning streak. Lady Warrior pitcher Julie Collins entered the title game with a 28-0 record this year, but she was outdueled by Bunker Hill's Shellee Wadsworth.

Both teams had only three hits, but the Minutemen struck for runs in the fourth and seventh. Collins had 12 strikeouts for Casey, but a fourth-inning walk to Erin Mullink led to Bunker Hill's first run on a two-out hit by Jamie Anderson. Anderson drove in the second run also.

Wadsworth had only three strikeouts, but she didn't walk a batter. The Minutemen were not intimidated by Casey's success.

The camp, which begins at 9 a.m., will be held at Tri-Township Park and will be under the direction of Bill Clark, the Reds' midwest scouting supervisor. He will be assisted by Bob Szymkowski, the Reds' Illinois scouting supervisor, and by Reds scouts Francis Wile, Emil Tofant and Buck Majors.

Players must be ready to go by 9 a.m. and be prepared to work until at least 4 p.m. There will be no lunch break. In case of rain, the camp will be rescheduled at a later date.

Players are expected to furnish their own shoes, gloves and uniforms, while the Reds will purchase other necessary equipment. Players are responsible for their own living and travel expenses with the understanding that the Reds will reimburse such expenses to anyone signing a Cincinnati contract.

Players must be 16 years of age to participate. American Legion players may participate only with written permission from their coach or the commander of the post they represent. High school players whose schools have been dismissed for the summer may participate without endangering their eligibility. If the school is still in session, they must have written permission from their principal. College players whose spring terms have ended are eligible.

a rebuilding year. There will be a lot more questions going in than there were this year.

Krauss seems to be the leading candidate to anchor the pitching staff. Mark Begando, Joe Wallace and Burling will also develop. Wallace also was very impressive as the starting catcher the last half of the year.

"He's a very good catcher," Stegemeier said. "He did a great job on low pitches."

It was tough for Stegemeier to say goodbye to his team. The seniors were a special group to him, and there were a few hugs and maybe a few tears — as the team gathered in the outfield even as Belleville East celebrated with its sectional trophy.

"I coached most of them for three years," he said. "And they not only are a great group of players, but they're fine young men."

They won a school-record 29 games and won the Southwest Conference championship, with an 8-2 league mark. It was the first SWC crown for the Warriors since 1967. Stegemeier said the only team he has had he would compare to this year's was the 1979 Granite City North team that went to state.

"That team wasn't quite as good offensively, but they might have been a little better on defense," he said of that Steeler team that finished 20-7. "And the pitching was pretty close."

Most of the seniors will stick together for one more summer on the Tri-City Post 113 American Legion team, but it still had to be a little sad for most of them to see the dream end Monday.

ness in the past two years.

"Nobody is unbeatable," said Bunker Hill coach Rick Bertagnotti.

Bunker Hill is a town of 1,700 about 20 miles northeast of Alton. It is known for its basketball boys coach Jim Hauka has won more than 500 games in his career — and practically the whole town will turn up at the Minutemen's home gym — the Supreme Court — on a winter evening. Now, the softball team will take its place in Bunker Hill lore.

Southern Illinois' success in the state tournaments this year is quite impressive. Collinsville won the state soccer championship. Venice and East St. Louis Lincoln won in basketball. Lincoln also won in girls track. Now the area has claimed the Class A baseball and softball crowns.

Belleville East will try to keep it going in Class AA baseball, while Herrin will carry the banner in Class AA softball.

They won a third place trophy at the Norco Invitational Tournament and finished fourth at the
